

News Release

CourseNetworking creates CN Satellite Campus at Hue University in Viet Nam

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
September 6, 2012

INDIANAPOLIS - September 6, 2012 - Course Networking (theCN.com) and Hue University signed an MOU creating a CN Satellite Campus in Viet Nam.

CourseNetworking identified Hue University as the first in a series of higher education campuses around the world that will be chosen for the establishment of national and regional CN Satellite Offices. Serving as the first CN Satellite Campus in the world and the only in Viet Nam, Hue University will provide facilities and human resources to serve as the liaison between the campus, country and the CN headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana.

As a CN Satellite Campus, Hue University will provide insights to theCN.com about how to best serve the student, faculty, and university populations in Viet Nam through academic social networking, how to most effectively recruit users in the region, and they will provide training to faculty and students.

Of the partnership, Dr. Huynh Dinh Chien, Director of the Learning Resource Center and faculty of medicine, said: "As the only Satellite Campus of CourseNetworking for the whole country of Viet Nam, Hue University Learning Resource Center considers the signing of this MOU as one of her hallmark events. Through Course Networking, students and faculty of Hue University, in particular, and of Viet Nam, in general, will be part of the world's vast community of online learners and instructors, and their immense resources. Our local classrooms will become more global than ever before. I am convinced that the strong partnership between Hue University and CourseNetworking will bring meaningful benefits to all."

"It is a great pleasure for CourseNetworking to develop this partnership between Hue University and theCN.com. As our first Satellite Campus, Hue University, a leading higher education institution in Viet Nam, will provide valuable insight for theCN.com in refining its product for countries all over the world. We look forward to advancing global education together" said Dr. Ali Jafari, CEO and creator of theCN.com.

About Hue University

Hue University is a unique multi-disciplinary institution, focused on educating scientific and administrative professionals who are prepared to address the economic needs of the region. The institution is home to numerous research centers, and it provides academic training in 90 undergraduate degree areas and 83 graduate and post-graduate programs.

About CourseNetworking

CourseNetworking (theCN.com) is an academic social networking site that empowers learning throughout the world--free to all users. TheCN.com supports classroom teaching and learning practices and can be used as a complement to existing Learning Management Systems or as a primary learning environment for classroom based, hybrid, distance learning and MOOC courses.

For more information, please contact Sarah Zike, Director of Business Development for CourseNetworking, at sarah@coursenetworking.com or 317-550-2020.